Title: The Eyes Of The Killer Robot

Author: John Bellairs

Summary:

After a Red Sox game professor Childermass told Johnny Dixon about Evaristus Sloane, an insane inventor. Sloane had invented a robot to win a strikeout contest with a prize of ten thousand dollars. Professor Childermass found the eyes and put them back into the robot. The robot came to life and became uncontrollable because professor Childermass forgot to say the Arabic code! When the robot started hurting people Sloane used a special key to stop the robot. Sloane won the contest with the robot disguised as a person but the police found out. While all this was going on Sloane's wife kidnapped Johnny. Professor Childermass and Fergie rescued Johnny from Sloane's basement. Finally Sloane and his wife were arrested and taken to jail.

Main Characters:

Professor Childermass, a prof at Harvard

Johnny Dixon, a boy about thirteen

Fergie, Johnny's friend

Mr. Sloane, an insane inventor

Mrs. Sloane, an eye doctor

the Robot, killer robot

Cliff Bullard, a baseball player

What Happened:

In what ways was this book Interesting?

I thought the Arabic code on the sword was interesting because I never heard of Arabic before. One small clue, the wart on the end of his nose, allowed professor Childermass and fergie to see through Sloane's disguise. I thought the robot was queer it did not run. The robot had the fastest pitching arm in the world and was mistaken for a human!!!

but I did not understand this mystery but it still was a very good book book! this is my favorite in this series so far.
